Our Stock Show

The Penny-Postcard

Bows to Inflation

The preoccupied look on the faces of our fellowtownsmen tells you that Livestock Show-time is just around the weekend corner.

It's a big job—putting on the Third District Stock Show. But Hope is fortunate to have it. Remember the old days of the South-west Arkansas Fair, and its successor the Hempstead County Fair? They were pretty pale in comparison with today's District Stock Show.

Hope, it is true, has an extraordinarily good show site in the city-owned Fair park, but all the previous fairs enjoyed this advantage too. What makes the difference today is that we have state sponsorship and state aid, in the name of the livestock industry.

That's what gives size and drawing power to the annual Hope show, making this perhaps the most important agricultural fair outside of Little Rock and the annual State Livestock event.

Our best wishes to the 1951 Third District Stock Show management for a fine meet next week. May the weather be good and the crowds even better.

From all indications in the Washington dispatches our beloved penny-postcard is a dead duck.

It's going up to 2 cents.

This is an occasion of regret, but no one is going to be stupid enough to say he is surprised. The death of the penny-postcard is a long but perfectly understandable story.

Mr. F. D. R. cut the U. S. dollar to 59 cents. His successor reduced it further, to about 40 cents.

So the old penny-postcard was really selling for under half a cent, and now it's getting back to par—2 cents, that is.

All very confusing, if you want to play stupid. But in your secret heart you know what the score is. Our country has ditched out too many dollars for too many years without getting tangible value for its money. It broke the back of the dollar. It made the penny obsolete.

Look, moin, no more penny cards.

Activities of Hope C of C During Week

Charles Armitage is chairman of the Street Decoration Funds Committee which has done most of the work in collecting the contributions from the downtown business houses for our fine street decorations. Several business houses have not been contacted yet and there are some who have indicated that they will contribute but they have not. It is desired that these contributions be made to Mr. Armitage or to the Chamber of Commerce office immediately.

Tuesday morning twenty-five business men assembled in the Chamber of Commerce office to make final plans for the Third District Livestock Show Good Will Tour, September 19. C. C. Lewis, and Dewey Baber headed up the committee and were assisted by Fred Robinson and Milton Dillard in contacting the businessmen. At the Tuesday meeting the route was discussed and the leaving time was set, and arrangements were made to contact others. There was a minimum of fifteen cars set for the tour.

Wednesday morning at eight o'clock twenty-two well decorated horn-blowing vehicles loaded with cowboys, cowgirls, and Hope High school band students departed from Hope on a Third District Livestock Show Good Will Tour. The twenty piece band and the forty odd businessmen and women were well received in ten towns and five counties in the Third District of the Livestock association.

The parade was led by Sgt. Milton Moiser in an Arkansas State Police car and the Meyers Baking Company provided the sound truck, driven by George Manasco. The caravan stopped at each town long enough to distribute hand-bills advertising the Third District Livestock Show, Rodeo, and Musical Review. Mayor-elect John Wilson, was master of ceremonies and he extended a warm invitation to attend the Third District Livestock Show to the people of: Prescott, Gardon, Chidester, Camden, McNeil, Stephens, Magnolia, Waldo, Stamps, and Lewisville.

There was a special luncheon arranged at the Ouachita Hotel in Camden for the entire caravan and a special program was arranged by the Camden Chamber of Commerce.

Manager, Bob Shivers of the Third District Livestock Show stated that this was the greatest bit of advertising that could have possibly been done for the show and that he wished to extend to the Hope Chamber of Commerce for the Third District Livestock Show Association the deepest appreciation.

The entire group of the caravan had a very pleasant day and there were no accidents on the trip. The caravan ended its tour at the intersection of Main and Second streets, with the same sort of performance that it gave the other towns in the district.

School District Not Asking Millage Increase

Voters in Hope District 1-A will go to the polls Tuesday in the annual school election.

There is no increase in school tax this year but voters are asked to maintain the 25 mills, the same as last year. All the system's debt service, maintenance and operation costs are included in the 25 mill tax.

Voters will decide for or against the school tax. The Hope district is one of the few in Arkansas not asking for additional millage. The state average is 25.5 mills and practically all districts are asking for an increase.

The Hope district has one of the lowest rates in the state and is not asking an increase, "because we feel that the tax equalization program is much wiser than increasing the millage. This was done through the cooperation of the county and city government," George Newbern, school board president said.

Voters also will select three board members to serve for 3-year terms and a member of the county board of education. Nothing else will appear on the ballot except a breakdown of where the 25 mills is spent.

Voting places will be at the City hall and the Fulton school.

These stations include KXAR, Hope, KAMD, Camden; KVMA, Magnolia; and KVRC, Arkadelphia. These stations have contributed their time for the broadcast free of charge to the Third District Livestock Show.

Tass Writers Can Stay, Say U. S. Newsmen

Washington, Sept. 21. — (AP) — A committee of Washington newsmen has decided that representatives of Tass, the Russian news agency, may continue to work alongside them in the press galleries of congress.

The standing committee of correspondents voted unanimously last night not to expel the Tass reporters because it said, "It feverently believes that the principles of a free press cannot be upheld by abridging them."

"The committee holds that man's right to see his neighbor through his own eyes and to form his own opinions on that neighbor's conduct is basic to our liberties," it added.

The standing committee consists of five correspondents elected by some 800 of their colleagues to supervise the press galleries and to pass upon applications for admission.

Declaring that admittance of foreign correspondents in the press galleries "is consistent with the American concept of a free press," the committee urged Tass to cable its 300-word resolution "in full to its home office" and suggested the Soviet press print it in full.

Mikhail Fedorov, chief of the Washington bureau of Tass, told a reporter he had transmitted the resolution to Moscow. He declined to comment on it. Besides Fedorov, Tass has three other persons — all Americans — entitled to admission to the congressional press galleries.

The Washington correspondents' action was a rejection of a proposal that Tass representatives be expelled made by the American Society of Newspaper Editors. Similar proposals have been made by some members of congress.

The ASNE had protested several weeks ago Tass representatives were not legitimate newsmen, but primarily intelligence agents. In a new letter to the standing committee yesterday, the ASNE termed the issue one of "great importance" involving "the integrity of our profession."

It also proposed that a referendum on the question be held among all correspondents accredited to the press galleries, but the standing committee said it would be shirking its responsibilities if it undertook such a poll.

The standing committee took no formal action on its previous decision to consider no new applications from Tass representatives — made tentatively on Sept. 6. But members said it was understood that future applications would be considered in their merits.

The committee had asked the advice of the state and justice departments on the proposals to expel all Tass men. It was told by both departments, in effect, that it would have to make the decision itself.

Four More State Road Jobs Let

Little Rock, Sept. 21. — (AP) — Four more road construction projects have been added to the list on which the Arkansas highway commission will open bids Sept. 28.

Fourteen jobs previously were added to the list on that date.

The new projects include: Washington county — about 9.4 miles of bituminous resurfacing on selected sections of Crawford county line-north road, state highway 71.

Kiwanis Calf Project Helps Club Youths

In 1947 the Hope Kiwanis Club, under the leadership of the agriculture committee, began what is known as the Jersey calf project.

Two registered Jersey heifers were purchased and given away to F. F. A. and 4-H club boys that year. One was awarded to James Hultson and the other to Walker Fornby. The project has continued since that time with James Toner, a 4-H Club boy of Columbus, being awarded a heifer in 1948.

Kenneth Dale Shynard of Spring Hill and Burrell Joe Smith of Patmos were both awarded a heifer in 1949. Then in 1950 one was awarded to Henry Bowden of the Hope F. F. A. chapter.

The boys receiving these heifers are required to have a pasture and barn sufficient to care for the calves. He must agree to breed this calf to a registered Jersey sire, to show the calf and its offspring, if any, at the Livestock Show each year, keep a record and make a report in person to the donor of the calves annually. He must keep the calf and donate the first female offspring back to the donor, after which time the donor has no further claim to the original animal or its offspring. The first female offspring turned back to the Kiwanis Club will be given to other boys according to the rules set up by the club.

All the cows and their offspring are to be displayed at the Livestock show beginning next Monday morning, September 24, at 9 o'clock.

There are two female offspring to be awarded to 4-H Club and F. F. A. boys eligible to participate in a drawing next Tuesday morning, September 25, at 10 o'clock. The Hempstead County Farm Agent and vocational agriculture teachers are requested to select not more than one boy from each 4-H club or F. F. A. chapter and have him on hand for the drawing. The two female calves coming back to the donor this year came from the calves awarded to James Hultson and Henry Bowden.

The Kiwanis club will have a float in the parade next Monday afternoon which will be composed of these Jersey heifers and their owners mounted on a truck according to arrangements made by the agriculture committee under the leadership of Horace Fuller, the float committee chairman.

Any further information desired regarding the eligibility to receive one of these calves can be obtained by contacting E. R. Brown of the Hope Kiwanis Club. The rules of taking care and showing these calves will be explained again on Tuesday morning at the time of the awarding.

Underground wire cables often are wrapped in steel tape to prevent gophers from biting into them.

SUES FOR DIVORCE

Los Angeles, Sept. 21. — (AP) — Mrs. Carmen P. Considine, 41, daughter of the late Alexander Pantegre, wealthy showman, has sued for divorce from John W. Considine, Jr., 52, movie director and producer. She alleges cruelty.

Mrs. Considine's suit, filed yesterday, asks for support and custody of their three children, Erin, 17; John, 16; and Timothy, 9, as well as division of community property.

If You Think You Have Many Troubles Just Think of the Hundreds of Disabled GIs

By HAL BOYLE
New York, Sept. 21. — (AP) — So you think you have troubles, and life's got you down?

What would you do if you actually had a permanent handicap in life? How would you face it?

The American Legion is getting some wonderful answers to that question in "Operation Comeback," a nationwide contest to honor veterans who have overcome physical handicaps.

The 586 entry letters are a roll-call of human spiritual valor in rising above adversity.

Take the case of Jephtha C. Tankley of Atlanta, Ga., a young West Point graduate hit by an enemy mortar shell in Italy in 1944. Both arms were fractured, his left eye was gone, both legs were amputated.

"There wasn't much left for a young man who had planned an army career," he wrote. "The facts were cruel but clear: one life had ended — a new one must begin."

"I made a definite decision not to worry one bit about my injuries, to treat them as an existing condition, and to do whatever was necessary to master the situation and perform some worthwhile service in the future."

He spent two years in hospitals getting eye-and-limb fittings and learning to walk again.

"Since that time every thing has been wonderful," Tankley said. He went through law school and was elected president of the student body. He was married, bought a house, has an 18-month-old son, is engaged in law practice in Atlanta.

"I drive my own car when and where I please and most of my friends do not suspect the full extent of my injuries," his letter continued. "I have not lost a single day from work because of my physical disability. For all these things I am very thankful."

Equally grateful is Lewis Astor Moore, a nearly blind insurance executive of Gadsden, Ala.

Moore, a survivor of the Bataan death march in 1942 but who lost his sight from nutritional disease suffered in Japanese prison camps. "I could not possibly have attained the success I have had (except for the assistance of the veterans administration and my wife, whom I met while in service and who is also a disabled veteran)," he wrote.

Although his vision has steadily weakened, Moore in five years built a general insurance agency which nets him $10,000 to $12,000 a year. He is active in social and war veterans' organizations.

Another impressive letter came from Ralph J. Anslow of Glendora, Calif.

KXAR to Open Studio at Livestock Show

As previously announced by Bob Shivers, manager of the Third District Livestock Show, KXAR will have a studio located in the exhibit hall portion of the coliseum.

At 3:30 p. m. KXAR will return with a full hour of shows and live news, which will be presented from 6 until 7:30 p. m. each evening.

As an added feature KXAR will move its Associated Press teletype machine to the livestock show studios for that week so that visitors may see the intricate machine operates.

The regular 12 noon and 6:15 p. m. newscasts will be presented from the remote studio.

Visitors may watch a newscast prepared and delivered as it is done daily at the station.

British Train Disaster Is Fatal to 20

Northampton Eng., Sept. 21. — (AP) — The Liverpool-London Express was derailed today, killing at least 20 persons and injuring 35. The locomotive and first two passenger coaches plunged down a 30-foot embankment.

One of the first bodies pulled from the wreckage was that of an unidentified man in an American soldier's uniform.

The deraiment occurred just as the train pulled out of a tunnel near Weedon, a village of 2,000 about eight miles from this industrial midland city.

Eyewitnesses said the first coach was smashed to bits and the second was cut in two. County police said about a dozen other coaches remained standing on the right of way.

The plunging locomotive sheared off telephone and telegraph lines, cutting communications with the scene of the accident until emergency repairs were made.

The same tunnel — known as the Stowe Hill tunnel — was the scene of a rail disaster in 1916, when the Irish Mail was wrecked.

Ambulances were rushed to the scene today from Northampton, Rugby and Daventry, and injured pulled from the smoldering ruins described as looking "like the aftermath of an air raid" were rushed to nearby hospital.

Greece, Turkey to Be Part of Military Pact

Ottawa, Sept. 21. — (AP) — The United States, Britain and France have substantially agreed on organization of a separate North Atlantic treaty military command in the Middle East. It was reported today, when Greece and Turkey join the Atlantic alliance.

Diplomatic informants said this was an unexpected result of private big-three talks held here during breaks in the Atlantic council. The last of these was held yesterday just before the council, as the last big decision of its Ottawa meeting, finally voted unanimously for Greek-Turkish membership.

The conference ended in late afternoon. The next session will be held in Rome in November and General Dwight D. Eisenhower, NATO commander in Europe, is being invited to report personally on the progress and future requirements of his force.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman were reported to have found agreement on major points of the new command problem with surprising speed.

General Omar Bradley, chairman of the American joint chiefs of staff and other big-three military leaders joined in the discussions.

Whitman, McElroy Appointed to Oil Committee

E. J. Whitman of Gulf Refining Company and F. D. McElroy of The Texas Co. have been appointed Hope community chairman of the Oil Industry Information Committee. They will administer the American Petroleum Institute information program in this community for 1951-52 and are in charge of plans now in their formative stage for Oil Progress Week, October 14-20, according to an announcement from Little Rock today by M. R. Springer, OIC Arkansas state chairman.

"In broadcasting the OIC program in Arkansas this year," Springer said, "We feel fortunate in enlisting their leadership in the vital Hope community."

Men and women from all segments of the petroleum industry over the nation have been banded together since 1947 as volunteer workers to keep the public informed about their industry.

In commenting upon their appointment as the new community chairman, Whitman and McElroy said that their objective and that of the local commitment serving with them was:

"To help re-affirm the faith of the American people that their individual interests, as well as those of the nation, are best served, in peace or in war, by competitive, privately-managed oil and gas companies."

"Testimony before the Grand Jury is confidential. Therefore, any person who has any information that they deem to be of advantage to the Grand Jury are asked to give their names to either of us. This will be considered confidential and we will see that all such parties have an opportunity to appear before the Grand Jury."

Head of the A&P Store Chain, Dies

New York, Sept. 21. — (AP) — John A. Hartford, 70, chairman of the board of the A & P chain of stores, died yesterday after a heart attack in a Manhattan skyscraper.

Hartford succumbed after he stepped into an elevator on the 50th floor of the Chrysler building. He had been attending a board meeting of the Chrysler Corp., of which he was a director.

The A & P — The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company — was founded by his father, George Huntington Hartford, in 1859, with a single store on New York's lower East Side. The business then was called the "Great American Tea Co."

The son conceived the idea of an "economy store," which he opened in Newark, N. J., in 1912. This idea developed into more than 15,000 stores in 1955 when the super market method was introduced and food store consolidations started. There now are about 4,700 A & P stores.

Long known as a "mystery man" of his business because he shunned publicity, Hartford hit the headlines in 1945 when he said he loaned Elliott Roosevelt $200,000 in 1930 and finally settled the debt for $4,000.

The son of the late President Roosevelt then was interested in a Texas radio chain.

The matter became a political football before the house ways and means committee allowed Hartford a tax deduction on his $100,000 loss.

Hartford was known as "Mr. John" to the thousands of A & P employees. He frequently visited as many as 3,000 of the company's stores in a single year.

Born in Orange, N. J., Hartford lived on a 365-acre estate at Valhalla, N. Y., in suburban Westchester county.

His closest survivor in his older brother George, also an official of the food chain.

Gromyko Touches Off an Alarm

Plymouth, Eng., Sept. 21. — (AP) — O. Andre Gromyko touched off an early morning alarm on the Lincor De France today by reporting that someone tried to enter his $1,100 luxury suite.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister, enroute back home the Japanese peace treaty conference at San Francisco, called a steward and said he had found one of the doors to the suite unlocked.

"Somebody has entered or tried to enter my room," Gromyko told him.

The steward called night watchmen who searched the area thoroughly but found nothing amiss.

State Has No Governor Today

Little Rock, Sept. 21. — (AP) — Arkansas was without a governor today.

Gov. Sid McMath still is the state's chief executive, but there is no one in the state house performing the tasks of that position.

The line of succession to the governor, outlined by the state constitution, provides that when the governor is out of the state, the lieutenant governor shall take over. If he too has left Arkansas, then the president pro tem of the senate acts as governor. Next in line is the speaker of the house. There it ends.

The governor is enroute from San Francisco to Omaha. Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon is out of the state on personal business; Sen. Ellis Fagan left yesterday for St. Louis, and House Speaker James CAMPBELL of Hot Springs is attending the council of state governments in Kentucky.

U. S. Tanks Jab Old Red Triangle In Big Thrust

By JOHN RANDOLPH
U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Saturday, Sept. 2. — (AP) — Allied armored columns jabbed into the north corner of the old Communist iron triangle in central Korea Friday, shot up everything in sight and then withdrew for the night.

It was perhaps the heaviest armored thrust of the Korean war. Infantrymen followed the tanks into action.

Elements of three Allied divisions advanced northward within a short distance of Pyongyang, apex of the triangular area used last spring as a massive build-up area by the Chinese and Korean Reds.

One tank-infantry column north of Chonwon, the southwestern corner of the triangle, at dawn and met only slight resistance from Reds lining the hills.

A second armored column met bitter opposition north of Kumhwa after working northward only a mile.

"It seemed as though the Reds had anti-tank guns in every nook and corner of the valley," reported a one-star front-line officer.

What appeared the toughest resistance in the day's action was not by the third tank-infantry column northeast of Kumhwa. The column ran into a half of anti-tank mine a town and a "knock-down drag-out" battle ensued.

Infantry patrols on the flanks of the column were pinned down by fire from Red bunkers.

On the hitherto flaming eastern front, the five-week-old "battle of the hills" ebbed to the sporadic clashes.

The armored thrusts on the central front were the first heavy Allied attacks in that sector since the Communist offensive last May was rolled back.

AP Correspondent John Randolph said the assault force rolled down into the broad valley meeting resistance before it ran into fire resistance.

"The boys are beginning to have a little trouble, an Allied officer said.

Front line reports said one spearhead was locked in savage combat with Red troops swarming on all sides.

PMA Only Help for Soybean Farmers

Little Rock, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Arkansas soybean farmers may have to sell their crops at below federal support prices unless they get help from the production and marketing administration.

This comes from J. L. Wright, chairman of the state PMA committee, who told Washington officials of the agency yesterday that a crop purchase plan should be approved by soybean growers.

Wright, speaking for the committee, asked for action to stimulate and bolster the soybean export market.

"There may be objections to a purchase plan for soybeans," said Wright, "because that puts the government into business. It would be an emergency program and it would have to be done with discretion."

The support price for soybeans is $2.43 a bushel for No. 2 or better green and yellow beans. Government loans to guarantee the support price are available to growers, but a lack of storage space is keeping many farmers from taking advantage of the loans, said Wright.

University Gets $18,000 Grant

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The Carnegie corporation board of trustees has approved a grant of $18,000 for the University of Arkansas to continue a survey of Arkansas basic life.

C. Hamilton Moser, president of the board, said the grant is $2.43 a bushel for No. 2 or better green and yellow beans. Government loans to guarantee the support price are available to growers, but a lack of storage space is keeping many farmers from taking advantage of the loans, said Wright.

Oil tolls, which process both cottonseed and soybeans, will be hard pressed to handle cottonseed this year, said Wright, leaving the soybean grower with limited processing facilities. They probably will force growers to sell at less than support price, he said.

A purchase plan is offered on cottonseed. However, Wright said the plan is not being used because oil mills and plants are paying higher than the plan's maximum price for cottonseed.

24,000 Vets to Share Pension Hikes

Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—About 24,000 war veterans will share the pension increase voted by Congress yesterday over President Truman's veto. That figure might rise to more than 300,000 in the future. It was paying "non-service-connected" pensions to 282,333 veterans of World War I, and 30,496 veterans of World War II.

A VA spokesman added that all of these veterans are permanently and totally disabled, but that "most of them are not flat on their backs and therefore are capable of following a substantially gainful occupation."

He said that naturally, as they get older, more and more of the disabled men will require constant attendance. Many will be barred from the pension by income limitations, however.

No Fatherly Feelings

Dear Miss Dix: I have two girls, aged 4 and 7, by a former marriage. My present husband and I have been married two years. He takes great pleasure in teasing the little girls. He won't answer a question for them without going through a preliminary teasing of ten minutes or more. He doesn't believe in letting them do or have anything from which they won't derive profit. He won't let my older girl learn to skate, for instance, because he says she will not learn anything useful from it.

He teases the children at the table by pouring milk on their food or putting burned matches in their dishes. He will not stop irritating them until they cry. I know this kind of life isn't good for them and it is making a nervous wreck of me. My older child is beginning to realize that he is different from her playmates' fathers, and resents it. What can I do to make him realize his duty as a father.

W. R. D.

Answer: Permitting this situation to develop much longer along these lines will result in completely wrecked personalities for your little girls. They already resent their stepfather; they will resent you for withholding him. Discouraging all their effort to learn new things and participate in activities with other children will produce an inferiority complex—which is exactly what your husband wants. He certainly evinces no trace of parental love or pride in your

Baker
The members of the Baker Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Lorraine Blackwood, Home Demonstration Agent in the home of Mrs. Roy Baker for a demonstration on bottoming chairs with houghlong grass. Fenwick, owners of the chairs, were more than pleased with the finished product.

With no business to discuss the meeting was turned over to the recreational leader, Mrs. J. W. White. Prizes were won by Mrs. W. M. Hargis, Mrs. J. B. Hargis, and Mrs. Ethel Davis.

The surprise package was won by Mrs. Roy Baker. Cakes and cookies were served to nine members, one new member Mrs. Ethel Davis, six guests, Mrs. Theo Burns, Mrs. John Keck, Mr. Roy Baker, Mr. Dale Tommemaker, Mr. T. B. Fenwick and Mrs. Lorraine Blackwood.

Must You Avoid Favorite Foods? ... because of Acid Stomach?

Nearly everyone has favorite foods that bring on heartburn, sourness, acid indigestion. But millions have found the answer is simple as A-B-C. They just carry a handy roll of Tums in pocket or purse. Eat 1 or 2 like candy for quick soothing relief. Tums contain no acids to over-alkalize or cause acid rebound. And they are FAST! Cost only a dime. Get a roll today!

See if you don't suddenly assume a much more important and respected place in the household!

Dear Miss Dix: I have been going steady with a boy for two years secretly. My problem is, what can I do to make my parents like this boy? I have been forbidden to see him. I have to meet him on corners and make all sorts of excuses to get out.

Answer: You are doing exactly the one thing that will make your parents dislike the boy even more intensely—and I don't blame them. Your folks must have some basic reason for their feeling, and certainly a clandestine romance will not enhance your friend in their eyes. Surely you can do better than a street corner romance. Continuing with this boy will only bring more dissonance with your family, and I doubt if it will result in happiness for you. Why not give it up and find a boy with better principles?

Dear Miss Dix: I am a young girl of 21, truly in love with a man 60. He is very active, and works in the same office I do. He is divorced but has no children. My co-workers think he is too old for me but I think he has a pleasant disposition and suits me perfectly.

D. L.

Answer: It is absolutely impossible for you to be truly in love with a man old enough to be your grandfather! You may be dazzled by his importance in the office, his money, or the polished attentions he pays you, but love? Never! Surely young men are not so scarce that you have to seek the companionship of one three times your age. Get down to your own group.

Doctors Again Visit the King

London, Sept. 20 — (AP) — King George VI, who is suffering from a lung ailment, was visited by his doctors again today.

The physicians stayed at Buckingham palace just under an hour. Last night they saw the king for nearly two hours. No medical bulletin was forthcoming on either occasion.

Outside the palace a large crowd saw the doctors enter and leave.

The king's doctors issued a bulletin Tuesday night which said that "structural changes" had developed in one of his lungs. There has been no elaboration.

Sunday School LESSON

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

The Bible is for the whole world. But how many "worlds" are in the Bible? Recently I searched through a concordance to find out how many times the word "world" is used in the New Testament.

I was truly amazed at the number of such passages to have from the little land of Palestine, seen ingly of minor importance among the great chapters of the ancient world. Equally impressive is the number of references to the world by Jesus, the man from a tiny village in the hills known as Nazareth.

In spite of an environment that would have stifled many, Jesus glimpsed truths that were universal and from the very beginning delivered his message with a consciousness of the world about him.

Let us take a look at the first example of his awareness of the world. It began in that temptation (Matthew 4:8-11), in which he saw the kingdoms of the world, with all the allurements of worldly power, but in which He chose the divine, not the human way, and set the fulfillment of His spiritual mission above all that the world could possibly have given.

The earthly Christ understood clearly and fully the meaning of that choice. I have been inspired and with his many and persistent references to the world before Him

'Purple Cow' Author Dies

Carmel, Calif., Sept. 19 — (AP) — Gelett Burgess, fun-loving humorist who penned the "Purple Cow" and regretted it for 60 years is dead.

The 85-year-old author who spent most of his life sniping at tradition and making people laugh was stricken with a heart attack last week. He died yesterday.

No funeral is planned. He wanted it that way. Plans for disposal of the body have not been announced.

Aside from the "Purple Cow" verse Burgess regretted very little about life.

"Life is too short for regrets," he said shortly after moving here two years ago.

"Living is the pursuit of fun. If you want money, you specialize. If you want fun, you create new things. Most of my books I wrote in fun. That's why they don't sell."

Some did though. His "Goops and How To Be Them" was a best-seller 50 years ago. Other favorites were "The Lively City/Lige" and "Why Men Hate Women" and "The Rubaiyat of Omar Cayenne."

Would Lower Postal Rates to Newspapers

Washington, Sept. 19 — (AP) — Administration leaders were dubious today of their ability to halt a house drive to lighten proposed increases in mailing rates for newspapers.

With the house scheduled to vote by the end of the day on a bill to increase postal rates generally, a stiff fight was brewing over the second class mail.

And there was house sentiment against raising, as the senate has done, the cost of an ordinary letter to four cents. But no voice was heard in defense of the penny post card. It appeared doomed to become the two-penny card.

Second-class mail consists mainly of newspapers and magazines. The postal increase bill sent to the house by its postoffice committee proposes that second-class rates be boosted 60 per cent — 20 per cent annually for each of the next three years. But an amendment before the house would cut the suggested hike, for newspapers, to 30 per cent over three years. Newspapers mailed in their own counties would continue to pay no post.

A bill passed by the senate would boost postal rates for newspapers 30 per cent and for magazines 60 per cent.

The post office department asked congress to increase the rates for both newspapers and magazines 100 per cent over three years.

Any more than a 30 per cent increase, Rep. Withrow (R-Wisc) told the house, might put many smaller newspapers out of business.

Rep. Rees (R-Kas), senior GOP member of the postoffice committee said spokesmen for the papers themselves had told the committee an increase would not harm them.

Chairman Murray (D-Iowa) said the rate increase would have little effect on small publications and would fall mainly on large papers and magazines that are "more prosperous than ever before" because of increased advertising.

Murray told newsmen he would resist a farm group proposal to exempt farm publications from increases.

Hospital Men Told to Get Good Help

St. Louis, Sept. 18 — (AP) — The nation's hospital administrators were told today if they wanted to get good help and keep it they were going to have to up the pay.

Dr. Marcus D. Kogel, city hospital commissioner of New York, added that civilian hospitals, facing a critical personnel situation, were going to have to improve working conditions, too.

"High labor turnover is an expensive luxury," he told the American Hospital association's convention here.

Among the 26,000 employees in the New York City department of hospitals, he said, the turnover was 28 per cent in 1940 and still is more than 24 per cent. He added other hospitals over the nation face a similar problem.

He said a sound personnel plan should, in addition to providing regular pay increases as ability grows, provide extra pay for night and hazardous work. He added hospital must find ways of making better use of women workers, older persons and physically handicapped.

Dr. Edward H. Leverover of Chicago, associate secretary of the American Medical association's council on medical education and hospitals, said the competition for interns today among hospitals had become serious.

He explained that in the last 10 year the number of internships in approved hospitals had risen from 7,000 to 10,000 and that "seniors (in medical schools) today are, in many instances, being given the same 'red carpet' treatment that has been standard operating procedure for the proselyting of high school athletes."

Mid-September Mild Continues

Chicago, Sept. 20 — (AP) — The mid-September mild spell continued over most of the nation today.

It was generally fair weather across the country. Showers were reported in southern and western Montana and in the Lake Superior region.

Some cool air moved into the northern Rockies and headed southward. Temperatures also were lower in northern New England, with a reading of 36 early today at Caribou, Me.

Freight Carriers Ask Increase

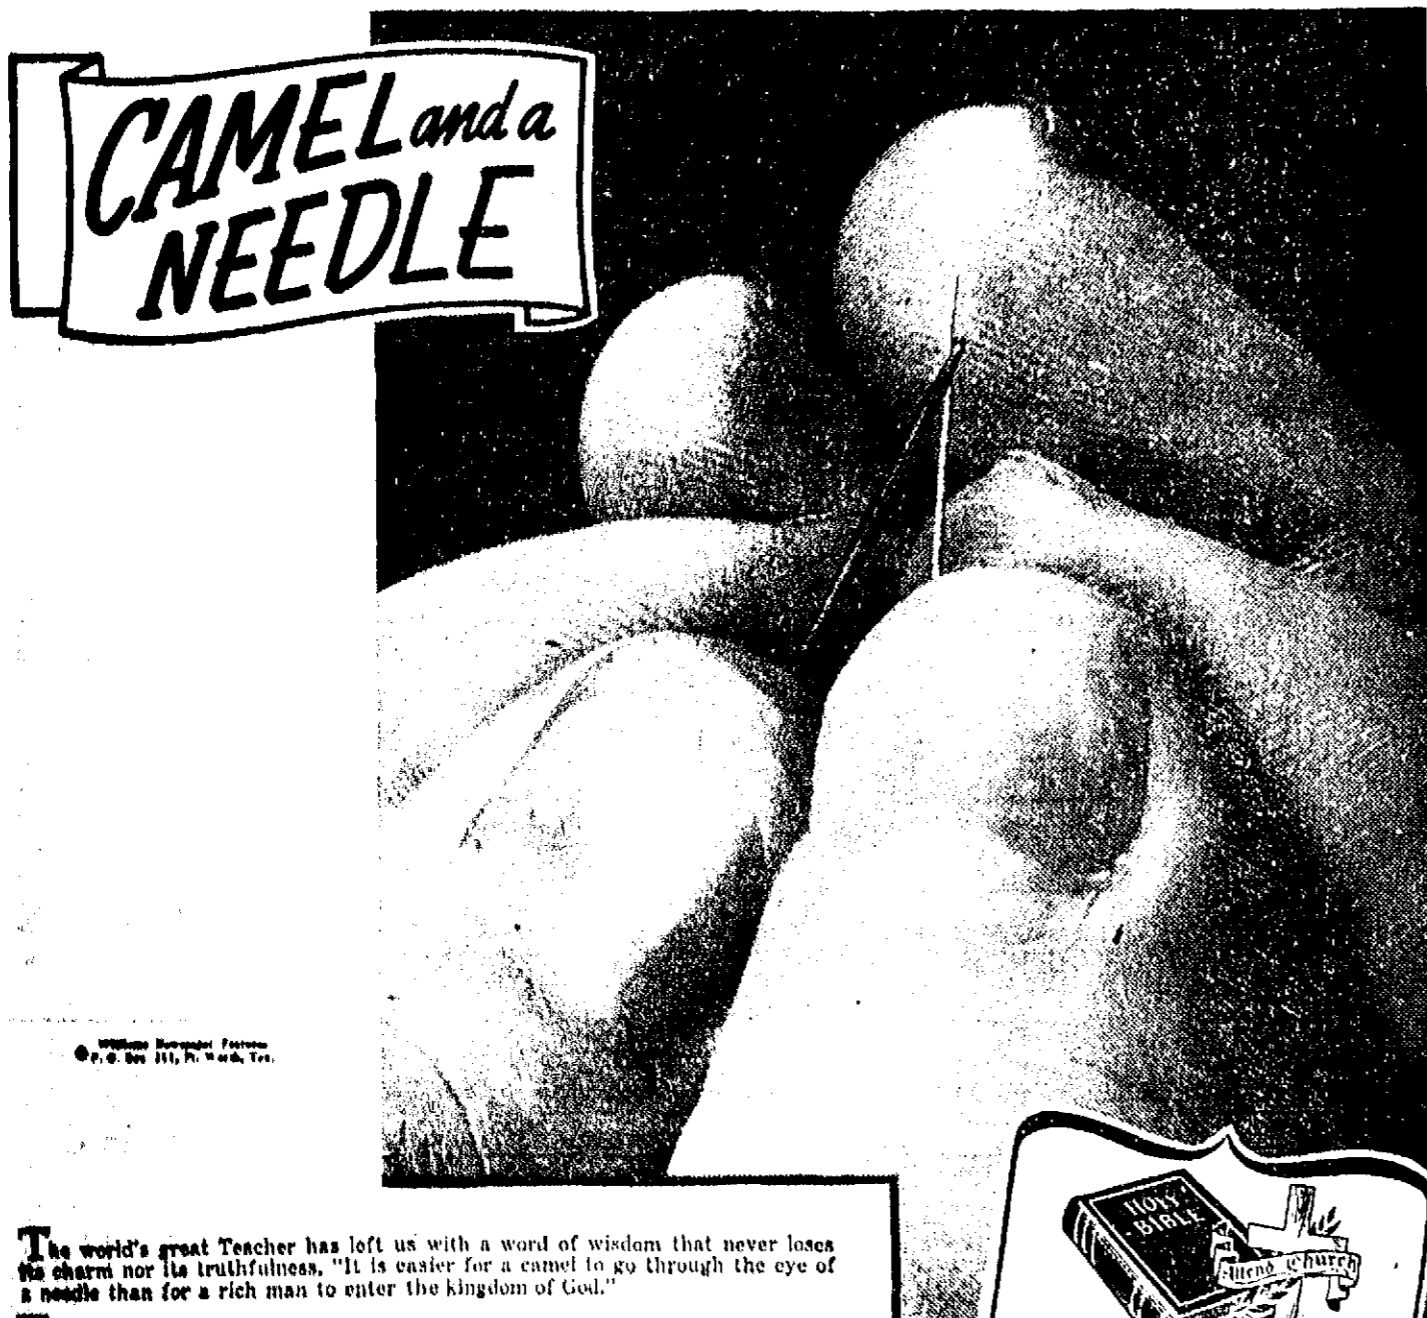

Little Rock, Sept. 20 — (AP) — An appeal from more than 20 motor freight carriers operating in Arkansas for an increase in intrastate rates has been taken under advisement by the state public service commission.

The carriers asked for increases ranging from 7.3 to 14.6 per cent. A witness, J. D. Huggett, manager of Southwestern Freight bureau, Dallas, Tex. estimated the boost would average about 10 per cent.

Proponents of the increase pointed out that the carriers have not had a rate boost since Dec. 1, 1948.

Kenneth J. Tubbs of the Fort Smith traffic bureau and J. C. Murray of the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce testified in opposition to the increases.

The world's great Teacher has left us with a word of wisdom that never loses its charm nor its truthfulness. "It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God."

There are some things that money cannot buy; in fact all the really great values of our world cannot be bought. Money can secure food and houses and clothing and all sorts of necessary goods for our convenience and our comfort. But money alone is pretty weak and foolish. The old Spartan mother said to a son who complained that his sword was too short, that he must add a step for himself to lengthen the sword; and that was the absolutely essential part of the equipment. That is still true. Helpful as money may be, you are more important. Real friends and genuine fellowship wait for the extra step that you must take. Love and happiness in a home are not bought; they are the product of loving and trusting and dependable souls.

Camels do not go through needles' eyes; nor do human kingdoms of value answer to the demand of money alone. But with God all things are possible. Rich men may enter God's kingdom if they will love Him more than they love their money. Any man may enter the kingdom on the same basis. People who trust in things and who find that so much can be bought for a price will discover with difficulty that education and love and religion and trust must be gained by sheer personal worth and goodness. Greatly then should we honor men and women of wealth who are first good people and kind and generous. They have proven to be masters of things and not their servants. Let's use what money we have for good but let's never think money is a substitute for character or for piety.

YOU IN THE CHURCH

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions through democracy for a better citizenship and a melting religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we ask our children should go to the church at our choice on Sunday. For in the church and the church in you form a combination for good. Be a regular church-goer and a daily Bible reader.
